CordialChart Compared to FISDAP and Platinum Planner

FISDAP and Platinum Planner are capable, well-established tools, and plenty of programs run well on them. CordialChart is for programs that want something simpler and more affordable that covers the whole ladder, EMR included. Here are the differences that matter, stated honestly.

	CordialChart	FISDAP	Platinum Planner
Covers EMR	Yes	No	Yes
EMT, AEMT, Paramedic	Yes	Yes	Yes
One account across all levels	Yes	No	No
CoAEMSP and Appendix G tracking	Yes	Yes	Yes
Mobile app, works offline	Yes	Yes	Yes
Preceptor signs with no login or student account	Yes	No	No
Volume and cohort discounts	Yes	No	No
Lowest price per level	Yes	No	No

What is shared, so we do not overclaim

- All three cover EMT through Paramedic.
- All three have a mobile app.
- All three support CoAEMSP competency tracking, including Appendix G. CordialChart's difference is how: the matrix fills itself from the charting, with a live ready-to-graduate verdict, rather than a separate tally.
- All three keep patient data de-identified. No one is holding patient PHI, so that is not a selling point against anyone.

Where CordialChart is genuinely different

- It covers EMR. FISDAP does not offer an EMR tracker.
- One account, EMR to Paramedic. A student keeps the same account and all of their history up the ladder. There is no migration and nothing to lose. FISDAP, by contrast, cannot move data from its old Skills Tracker into its newer Competency Tracker, so cohorts can get stranded mid-program.
- Preceptor sign-off with no login. Preceptors sign on their own device, with no account, and never on a student's login. That keeps the signature defensible at a site visit. On the other tools a preceptor either gets an account or signs on the student's login.
- Closed-loop chat. Named sender, read-back, nothing deleted, full export. Built for a training program, not a group text.

- Price. CordialChart undercuts both at every level, and adds volume discounts neither offers.

Price, side by side (per student)

Level	CordialChart	Platinum Planner
EMR	$24	$26
EMT	$29	$35
AEMT	$58	$63
Paramedic	$79	$95
